

MAY 11

4:30-6:30 PM

On May 14, 2022, a white supremacist gunman murdered ten Black citizens and wounded several others in a targeted attack at the Tops grocery store on Buffalo's East Side. One year later, the victims' families, survivors and greater community work to recover and heal.

Join us for

Racism, Racial Literacy and Mental Health: A Conversation with Dr. Howard Stevenson

Dr. Stevenson will discuss how systemic racism, racial trauma and racial stress contribute to racial health disparities, especially mental health disparities. This lecture and discussion will also explore how to bring about racial healing.

Location: Jacobs School of Medicine and Biomedical Sciences
Learning Center Room 1220, 955 Main Street, Buffalo

Livestream: Webinar will also be available by Zoom.

Participating Panelists

Dr. Howard Stevenson

is the Constance Clayton Professor of Urban Education, Professor of Africana Studies in the Human Development & Quantitative Methods Division of the Graduate School of Education at the University of Pennsylvania. He is the Executive Director of the Racial Empowerment Collaborative, designed to promote racial literacy in education, health, and community institutions.

Dr. Isaac Burt
Associate Professor
Graduate School of Education

Dr. Anyango Kamina
Assistant Dean for Student Development and Academic Enhancement
Jacobs School of Medicine and Biomedical Sciences

Pastor Kinzer M. Pointer
Agape Fellowship
Baptist Church and
Member of Erie
County Medical Center Board of Directors

Dr. Christopher St. Vil
Assistant Professor
School of Social Work

Register
to Attend

Event Sponsors:

UB Graduate School of Education, UB Office of Inclusive Excellence, UB Jacobs School of Medicine and Biomedical Sciences, UB School of Social Work, UB's K-12 Center for Black History and Racial Literacy Education in the Graduate School of Education and UB Community Health Equity Research Institute